

1 ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

2 A modular telephone plug includes an elongated housing, a connector
3 module and a flexible engaging tab. The elongated housing has an inside end, an 4 outside end, a bottom and a coupling device formed on the bottom. The 5 connector module is mounted in the elongated housing at the inside side. The 6 engaging tab with two opposite detents is detachably mounted on the bottom of 7 the elongated housing that forms a gap and has a stationary end fastened on the 8 bottom at the inside end and a free end abutting slidably on the bottom at the 9 outside end of the elongated housing. The detents are adjacent to the inner end.
10 Consequently, a person can conveniently grasp the elongated housing to pull out 11 the telephone plug and use a light force to press the engaging tab to disengage the 12 detents from the jack hole.